For the second opinion, standing in the shadow of God requires more than just good common sense. Bezalel does more than just figure out that the house is built before the vessels, he intuitively has insight into the nature of creation, of a Divine aesthetic which makes the Torah see him as the wise-hearted one, who inspires the other wise-hearted artisans who create a thing of beauty together.

Under the Shadow of God. In the context of today's society, living in someone else's shadow is not a good thing. If you are in someone's shadow, you receive less attention and you seem less important than them. In other words, you're as good as invisible. Nobody would want to be in someone else's shadow.

There are different things that the shadow of God can do to you. First, it protects you from harm. God's protection is likened to a shadow that protects you from the heat of the sun. God's shadow provides not just shade, but also a cover. It hides you from harm and it hides you from the sight of your enemy. Second, God's shadow brings life. The shadow of God is diametrically OPPOSITE to the shadow of death mentioned in Psalms 23.

In one place, the text reads, "Hide me beneath the shadow of Your wings." The hen effectually conceals her brood from any passing enemy—but God is an impenetrable hiding-place for His people. Surely this is the meaning of the psalmist when he says, "I will trust in the covert of Your wings" (Psalm. Lxi. 4).

Safety of Abiding in the Presence of God - He who dwells in the secret place of the Most High Shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. I will say of the Lord, "He is my refuge and my fortress; My God, in Him I will trust." Surely He shall deliver you from the snare of the fowler And from the perilous pestilence. He shall cover you with His feathers, And under His wings you shall take ...

Re: Ch. 3 - In the Shadow of God I think there are a few problems with Harris's arguments that are being reinforced by the history of the Church. These sure are great arguments against the church's past and do indicate that organized religion can make people do terrible things and can set humanity backwards on the path of progress.
