

Industrial Heritage Tourism In Europe

As recognized, adventure as competently as experience more or less lesson, amusement, as without difficulty as promise can be gotten by just checking out a book industrial heritage tourism in europe with it is not directly done, you could endure even more on this life, just about the world.

We have the funds for you this proper as well as simple way to acquire those all. We allow industrial heritage tourism in europe and numerous books collections from fictions to scientific research in any way, along with them is this industrial heritage tourism in europe that can be your partner.

*Imaginarie*s of ruralness in the construction of tourist space at an industrial World Heritage Site Culture and Tourism What is HERITAGE TOURISM? What does HERITAGE TOURISM mean? HERITAGE TOURISM meaning \u0026 explanation

Canada - Geography, History and AttractionsEDU565 | HISTORY OF TOURISM DEVELOPMENT IN EUROPE Mills - Industrial Heritage for Tourism in Estonia and Latvia Hello to Industrial Heritage for Tourism RIVER DON ENGINE - Sheffield Industrial Heritage The Heart of England How Does Tourism Change People and Places? Is the European Union Worth It Or Should We End It? Rick Steves' Cruising the Mediterranean Greek Islands: Santorini, Mykonos, and Rhodes 2-Hours of English Conversation Practice - Improve Speaking Skills School Conversation, School Dialogue Rick Steves' European Christmas Italy's Riviera: Cinque Terre Norway's West: Fjords, Mountains, and Bergen Istanbul Oxford Business English - English for Sales and Purchasing Student's Book How a waste-to-energy plant works

Scotland's Islands Lighthouses - Industrial Heritage for Tourism in Estonia and Latvia Italy Travel Skills The Netherlands: Beyond Amsterdam The industrial heritage of Tysley Energy Park English for International Tourism Intermediate Student's Book CD Oxford English for Careers Tourism 1 Class Audio CD Intangible Heritage - Why should we care? | Prof. M\u00e1rta\u00c1 Nic Craith | TEBHeriotWattUniversity Water Towers - Industrial Heritage for Tourism in Estonia and Latvia Industrial Heritage Tourism in Europe

European Route of Industrial Heritage, the tourism information network of industrial heritage in Europe

~~European route of industrial heritage - ERIH~~

Application of Power. Housing and Architecture. Industry and War. Iron and Steel. Industrial Landscapes. Mining. Paper. Production & Manufacturing. Salt. Service and Leisure Industry.

~~European Route of Industrial Heritage - Wikipedia~~

Industrial Heritage Tourism is: A special interest Offer But no »Niche Market« ! It is an important Trend in Cultural Tourism In all of the old industrial Areas round the World A Theme, no Destination A great economical Success We are creating a common Brand for Europe

~~Industrial Heritage Tourism In Europe~~

This report provides a description and analysis of how, why, when and where industrial heritage based tourism and rural tourism have developed in Europe. It discusses current issues in those subjects and suggests ways in which both

~~Industrial Heritage and Agri/Rural Tourism in Europe - - -~~

In 1999 the idea was born to implement a European network that would help to support the establishment of industrial heritage as kind of a tourism brand. What's behind this idea? Industrial history is a crucial part of Europe's past since nothing has left its mark as clearly as the two centuries following the beginning of the Industrial Revolution.

~~European Routes to Industrial Heritage | The Dudley Canal - - -~~

This paper explores the current trend among traditional industrial regions in Europe to launch initiatives in the field of 'industrial heritage tourism'. Increasingly, restoring and exploiting former industrial sites for touristic purposes is regarded as a useful strategy for regional renewal.

~~Industrial Heritage Tourism and Regional Restructuring in - - -~~

What's on in the world of industrial heritage (tourism)? Our compilation gives an overview - without claim of completeness - about events, conferences, colloquia, trade fairs and cultural festivals in Europe dealing with the theme.

~~Save the date - ERIH - European Route of Industrial Heritage~~

In Europe and North America, local governments and private enterprises have increasingly employed industrial heritage tourism as a strategy to rejuvenate local economies in the face of...

~~(PDF) Industrial Heritage Attractions: Types and Tourists~~

Nowadays, industrial heritage can be seen in the form of historic factories, water towers, mills, railways, lighthouses, other buildings of that age as well as historic documents. Industrial heritage tourism is a growing trend, and an excellent opportunity to preserve and present old production facilities, equipment, and the skills of using them.

~~Industrial Heritage for Tourism~~

Although examples of industrial heritage tourism can be found across Europe it is concentrated in North-West Europe, the location of the early years of the Industrial Revolution. However, there is increasing activity in Southern, Central and Eastern Europe. Europe is very much the dominant player in industrial heritage tourism on a global basis. It

~~DIRECTORATE GENERAL FOR INTERNAL - - - European Parliament~~

Where To Download Industrial Heritage Tourism In Europe Industrial Heritage Tourism In Europe If you ally infatuation such a referred industrial heritage tourism in europe ebook that will pay for you worth, get the no question best seller from us currently from several preferred authors.

~~Industrial Heritage Tourism In Europe~~

Industrial heritage as tourism resource has not been on the everyday "agenda" for the tourism developers in Latvia and Estonia. Developing the common network of industrial heritage sites in Latvia and Estonia and combining the sites into the tourism route, would allow increase competitiveness of destinations, diversify tourism offer and attract more visitors.

~~About - Industrial Heritage for Tourism~~

Europe is a key cultural tourism destination thanks to an incomparable cultural heritage that includes museums, theatres, archaeological sites, historical cities, industrial sites as well as music and gastronomy.It is estimated that cultural tourism accounts for 40% of all European tourism 4 out of 10 tourists choose their destination based on its cultural offering.The EU promotes a balanced approach between the needs to boost growth on one side, and the preservation of artefacts, historical ...

~~Cultural tourism - European Commission~~

Heritage tourism involves visiting historical or industrial sites that may include old canals, railways, battlegrounds, military sites, etc. The overall purpose is to gain an appreciation of the past. It also refers to the marketing of a location to members of a diaspora who have distant family roots there.

~~Heritage tourism - Wikipedia~~

In 2014, one in 10 enterprises in the European non-financial business economy belonged to the tourism industries. In 2018, the 'travel and tourism' sector directly contributed 3.9% to EU GDP and accounted for 5.1% of the total labour force (which equates to some 11.9 million jobs).

~~Tourism | Fact Sheets on the European Union | European - - -~~

Industrial Heritage Tourism consists of the remains of industrial culture which are of historical, technological, social, architectural or scientific value of buildings and machinery, workshops, mills and factories, mines and sites for processing and refining, warehouses and stores, places where energy is generated, transmitted and used, transport and all its infrastructure.

~~Conference 2015 Cultural Tourism development and - - -~~

External experts, Ivana Golob Mih\u0107 and Ema Makarun from University of Rijeka Centre for Industrial Heritage presented state of the art in the in Industrial Heritage for Sustainable and Responsible Tourism by short terminology overview, international associations dealing with industrial heritage, existing charters with tourism aspects, examples of cultural monuments and sites and reuse for tourism purposes.

~~2nd Workshop: INDUSTRIAL HERITAGE TOURISM | Interest Europe~~

The HECTOR project aims to improve the employability of young Europeans (18-30 years) with a qualification in the tourism sector by providing them with core competences and specialisation in industrial heritage. Industrial heritage offers interesting case studies and is relevant from a cultural point of view as it reflects the socio ...

~~HECTOR~~

Industrial heritage tourism in Manchester and Salford Manchester is a metropolitan city with the population about five hundred thousand people situated in the north-west of England. From 1990s era, Manchester City Council has tried for many times to attempts to improve, rebrand and renew the metropolitan city from the one with an economy which is grounded mainly in the traditional, however decreasing, manufacturing businesses, for example metals, textiles, engineering, chemicals and paper ...

~~Industrial Heritage Tourism in Manchester and Salford - - -~~

S\u017dums » Projects » Tourism » Industrial Heritage » Two Industrial Heritage objects in Latvia - Winners of the Destination of Sustainable Cultural Tourism Awards 2020 The Douro, Portugal - August 15, 2011: Image captured from the road some kilometers to the west of Oporto, the image shows the Douro river and his vineyards.

~~Industrial Heritage Tourism in Europe~~

This book examines the complex interplay between industrial heritage and tourism. It serves to stimulate meaningful dialogue about the socioeconomic values of industrial sites and the use of tourism for the growth of the creative economy, and to better understand how the collective social memory and local identity connected to these sites have been shaped by different social groups over time. The volume presents a conceptual framework underpinned by case studies drawn from Asia, North America, Australasia and Europe and advocates the creation of mixed-use spaces and stakeholder collaboration to develop tourism at industrial heritage sites. These theoretical and practical perspectives will be of use to researchers and students of heritage tourism, urban and regional planning and tourism marketing.

"This report provides a description and analysis of how, why, when and where industrial heritage based tourism and rural tourism have developed in Europe. It discusses current issues in those subjects and suggests ways in which both activities could be expanded, made more viable and sustainable, and so deliver greater economic, environmental and socio-cultural benefits for the local communities involved and for Europe as a whole."---Editor.

Because few comparative data existed on European cultural tourism, when the European commission designated cultural tourism as a key area of tourism development in Europe, the European association for tourism and leisure education undertook a transnational study of European cultural tourism. The first five chapters address general themes (the scope and significance, the social context, the economic context and the political context of cultural tourism). The are followed by eleven chapters on individual countries from the European Union. Re-issued in 2005 in electronic format by ATLAS, the Association for Tourism and Leisure Education.

The single market and trade policy are Europe's major economic achievements and its best assets in times of increasing globalisation. European integration, as well as any other regional integration, is impossible without these two policies, which are a good example of how to implement a positive form of globalisation. They represent an engine for growth and building a more competitive EU economy. The single market and trade policy, by allowing people, goods, services and capital to move more freely through both Member States and the world, open up new opportunities for citizens, workers, businesses and consumers, creating the jobs and growth Europe so urgently needs. This collection of essays addresses the various facets of these two pillars of European integration. A more efficient single market creates the conditions for a more open trade policy, and vice-versa. Growth has been lacking in Europe in recent years, and enhancing these two assets is the most fruitful way to find it again.

With an expected growth rate of around 6 per cent rural tourism is developing faster than the overall growth rate for international tourism arrivals. Due to its special importance for the European region, three seminars were held in Belgrade (Serbia), Kielce (Poland) and Yaremcha (Ukraine) to focus on three major issues: to contribute to a better understanding of rural tourism and to offer additional tools for planning and execution of initiatives; to enhance the importance of rural tourism in the agendas of governments and international organisations; to generate political and financial support for the development of rural tourism. (WTO)

The European Journal of Tourism Research is an open-access academic journal in the field of tourism, published by Varna University of Management, Bulgaria. Its aim is to provide a platform for discussion of theoretical and empirical problems in tourism. Publications from all fields, connected with tourism such as tourism management, tourism marketing, tourism sociology, psychology in tourism, tourism geography, political sciences in tourism, mathematics, tourism statistics, tourism anthropology, culture and tourism, information technologies in tourism and others are invited. Empirical studies need to have either a European context or clearly stated implications for the European tourism industry. The journal is open to all researchers. Young researchers and authors from Central and Eastern Europe are encouraged to submit their contributions. The European Journal of Tourism Research is published in three Volumes per year. Regular Articles should normally be between 4 000 and 20 000 words. Major research articles of between 10 000 and 20 000 are highly welcome. Longer or shorter papers will also be considered. The journal publishes also Research Notes of 1 500-2 000 words. Submitted papers must combine theoretical concepts with practical applications or empirical testing. The European Journal of Tourism Research includes also the following sections: Book Reviews, announcements for Conferences and Seminars, abstracts of successfully defended Doctoral Dissertations in Tourism, case studies of Tourism Best Practices. Submissions should be addressed to the Editorial office of the European Journal of Tourism Research: Stanislav Ivanov Editor-in-chief Varna University of Management 13A Oborishte str., 9000 Varna, Bulgaria E-mail: stanislav.ivanov@vumk.eu For Submission guidelines visit: http://ejtr.vumk.eu There are no charges for publication. The full text of the European Journal of Tourism Research is also available in the following databases: · EBSCO Hospitality and Tourism Complete · CABI Leisure, Recreation and Tourism · ProQuest Research Library The journal is indexed in Scopus and Clarivate Analytics' Emerging Sources Citation Index.

Combining a rigorous and academic theoretical framework with practical case studies and real-life examples, initiatives and projects from both the developed and developing world, this wide-ranging yet detailed book examines the phenomenon of cultural tourism in its broadest sense. It explores many issues including, amongst others: the development of cultural tourism and its impacts sustainable cultural tourism policies the role of cultural tourism in urban regeneration the organizational framework of European cultural tourism. In addition, individual chapters make reference to the problems of exclusion and discrimination. Drawing on post-modern perspectives, this informative text emphasizes the importance of popular cultural tourism, alternative or ethnic tourism, and that of working class heritage and culture. It focuses on the role cultural tourism plays in the globalization process and the impacts of global development on culture, traditions and identity, especially for regional, ethnic and minority groups. It argues that the future development and management of cultural tourism relies on a greater degree of mutual understanding between the sectors involved in its development, and on further communication, if it is to be sustainable, integrative and democratic.

Examines 9 international cases under the sections of Managing Heritage Sites, World Heritage Sites, and Heritage Tourism. Cases include: A Viking Case Study, Ethnic Enclaves: Singapore's Little India, Managing Religious Heritage Attractions: The Case of Jerusalem, , Edinburgh WHS, Indigenous Tourism and Heritage: A Maori Case Study and more.

~~Industrial Heritage Tourism in Europe~~

This book examines the complex interplay between industrial heritage and tourism. It serves to stimulate meaningful dialogue about the socioeconomic values of industrial sites and the use of tourism for the growth of the creative economy, and to better understand how the collective social memory and local identity connected to these sites have been shaped by different social groups over time. The volume presents a conceptual framework underpinned by case studies drawn from Asia, North America, Australasia and Europe and advocates the creation of mixed-use spaces and stakeholder collaboration to develop tourism at industrial heritage sites. These theoretical and practical perspectives will be of use to researchers and students of heritage tourism, urban and regional planning and tourism marketing.

"This report provides a description and analysis of how, why, when and where industrial heritage based tourism and rural tourism have developed in Europe. It discusses current issues in those subjects and suggests ways in which both activities could be expanded, made more viable and sustainable, and so deliver greater economic, environmental and socio-cultural benefits for the local communities involved and for Europe as a whole."---Editor.

Because few comparative data existed on European cultural tourism, when the European commission designated cultural tourism as a key area of tourism development in Europe, the European association for tourism and leisure education undertook a transnational study of European cultural tourism. The first five chapters address general themes (the scope and significance, the social context, the economic context and the political context of cultural tourism). The are followed by eleven chapters on individual countries from the European Union. Re-issued in 2005 in electronic format by ATLAS, the Association for Tourism and Leisure Education.

The single market and trade policy are Europe's major economic achievements and its best assets in times of increasing globalisation. European integration, as well as any other regional integration, is impossible without these two policies, which are a good example of how to implement a positive form of globalisation. They represent an engine for growth and building a more competitive EU economy. The single market and trade policy, by allowing people, goods, services and capital to move more freely through both Member States and the world, open up new opportunities for citizens, workers, businesses and consumers, creating the jobs and growth Europe so urgently needs. This collection of essays addresses the various facets of these two pillars of European integration. A more efficient single market creates the conditions for a more open trade policy, and vice-versa. Growth has been lacking in Europe in recent years, and enhancing these two assets is the most fruitful way to find it again.

With an expected growth rate of around 6 per cent rural tourism is developing faster than the overall growth rate for international tourism arrivals. Due to its special importance for the European region, three seminars were held in Belgrade (Serbia), Kielce (Poland) and Yaremcha (Ukraine) to focus on three major issues: to contribute to a better understanding of rural tourism and to offer additional tools for planning and execution of initiatives; to enhance the importance of rural tourism in the agendas of governments and international organisations; to generate political and financial support for the development of rural tourism. (WTO)

The European Journal of Tourism Research is an open-access academic journal in the field of tourism, published by Varna University of Management, Bulgaria. Its aim is to provide a platform for discussion of theoretical and empirical problems in tourism. Publications from all fields, connected with tourism such as tourism management, tourism marketing, tourism sociology, psychology in tourism, tourism geography, political sciences in tourism, mathematics, tourism statistics, tourism anthropology, culture and tourism, information technologies in tourism and others are invited. Empirical studies need to have either a European context or clearly stated implications for the European tourism industry. The journal is open to all researchers. Young researchers and authors from Central and Eastern Europe are encouraged to submit their contributions. The European Journal of Tourism Research is published in three Volumes per year. Regular Articles should normally be between 4 000 and 20 000 words. Major research articles of between 10 000 and 20 000 are highly welcome. Longer or shorter papers will also be considered. The journal publishes also Research Notes of 1 500-2 000 words. Submitted papers must combine theoretical concepts with practical applications or empirical testing. The European Journal of Tourism Research includes also the following sections: Book Reviews, announcements for Conferences and Seminars, abstracts of successfully defended Doctoral Dissertations in Tourism, case studies of Tourism Best Practices. Submissions should be addressed to the Editorial office of the European Journal of Tourism Research: Stanislav Ivanov Editor-in-chief Varna University of Management 13A Oborishte str., 9000 Varna, Bulgaria E-mail: stanislav.ivanov@vumk.eu For Submission guidelines visit: http://ejtr.vumk.eu There are no charges for publication. The full text of the European Journal of Tourism Research is also available in the following databases: · EBSCO Hospitality and Tourism Complete · CABI Leisure, Recreation and Tourism · ProQuest Research Library The journal is indexed in Scopus and Clarivate Analytics' Emerging Sources Citation Index.

~~Industrial Heritage Tourism in Europe~~

This book examines the complex interplay between industrial heritage and tourism. It serves to stimulate meaningful dialogue about the socioeconomic values of industrial sites and the use of tourism for the growth of the creative economy, and to better understand how the collective social memory and local identity connected to these sites have been shaped by different social groups over time. The volume presents a conceptual framework underpinned by case studies drawn from Asia, North America, Australasia and Europe and advocates the creation of mixed-use spaces and stakeholder collaboration to develop tourism at industrial heritage sites. These theoretical and practical perspectives will be of use to researchers and students of heritage tourism, urban and regional planning and tourism marketing.

"This report provides a description and analysis of how, why, when and where industrial heritage based tourism and rural tourism have developed in Europe. It discusses current issues in those subjects and suggests ways in which both activities could be expanded, made more viable and sustainable, and so deliver greater economic, environmental and socio-cultural benefits for the local communities involved and for Europe as a whole."---Editor.

Because few comparative data existed on European cultural tourism, when the European commission designated cultural tourism as a key area of tourism development in Europe, the European association for tourism and leisure education undertook a transnational study of European cultural tourism. The first five chapters address general themes (the scope and significance, the social context, the economic context and the political context of cultural tourism). The are followed by eleven chapters on individual countries from the European Union. Re-issued in 2005 in electronic format by ATLAS, the Association for Tourism and Leisure Education.

The single market and trade policy are Europe's major economic achievements and its best assets in times of increasing globalisation. European integration, as well as any other regional integration, is impossible without these two policies, which are a good example of how to implement a positive form of globalisation. They represent an engine for growth and building a more competitive EU economy. The single market and trade policy, by allowing people, goods, services and capital to move more freely through both Member States and the world, open up new opportunities for citizens, workers, businesses and consumers, creating the jobs and growth Europe so urgently needs. This collection of essays addresses the various facets of these two pillars of European integration. A more efficient single market creates the conditions for a more open trade policy, and vice-versa. Growth has been lacking in Europe in recent years, and enhancing these two assets is the most fruitful way to find it again.

With an expected growth rate of around 6 per cent rural tourism is developing faster than the overall growth rate for international tourism arrivals. Due to its special importance for the European region, three seminars were held in Belgrade (Serbia), Kielce (Poland) and Yaremcha (Ukraine) to focus on three major issues: to contribute to a better understanding of rural tourism and to offer additional tools for planning and execution of initiatives; to enhance the importance of rural tourism in the agendas of governments and international organisations; to generate political and financial support for the development of rural tourism. (WTO)

The European Journal of Tourism Research is an open-access academic journal in the field of tourism, published by Varna University of Management, Bulgaria. Its aim is to provide a platform for discussion of theoretical and empirical problems in tourism. Publications from all fields, connected with tourism such as tourism management, tourism marketing, tourism sociology, psychology in tourism, tourism geography, political sciences in tourism, mathematics, tourism statistics, tourism anthropology, culture and tourism, information technologies in tourism and others are invited. Empirical studies need to have either a European context or clearly stated implications for the European tourism industry. The journal is open to all researchers. Young researchers and authors from Central and Eastern Europe are encouraged to submit their contributions. The European Journal of Tourism Research is published in three Volumes per year. Regular Articles should normally be between 4 000 and 20 000 words. Major research articles of between 10 000 and 20 000 are highly welcome. Longer or shorter papers will also be considered. The journal publishes also Research Notes of 1 500-2 000 words. Submitted papers must combine theoretical concepts with practical applications or empirical testing. The European Journal of Tourism Research includes also the following sections: Book Reviews, announcements for Conferences and Seminars, abstracts of successfully defended Doctoral Dissertations in Tourism, case studies of Tourism Best Practices. Submissions should be addressed to the Editorial office of the European Journal of Tourism Research: Stanislav Ivanov Editor-in-chief Varna University of Management 13A Oborishte str., 9000 Varna, Bulgaria E-mail: stanislav.ivanov@vumk.eu For Submission guidelines visit: http://ejtr.vumk.eu There are no charges for publication. The full text of the European Journal of Tourism Research is also available in the following databases: · EBSCO Hospitality and Tourism Complete · CABI Leisure, Recreation and Tourism · ProQuest Research Library The journal is indexed in Scopus and Clarivate Analytics' Emerging Sources Citation Index.

~~Industrial Heritage Tourism in Europe~~

This book examines the complex interplay between industrial heritage and tourism. It serves to stimulate meaningful dialogue about the socioeconomic values of industrial sites and the use of tourism for the growth of the creative economy, and to better understand how the collective social memory and local identity connected to these sites have been shaped by different social groups over time. The volume presents a conceptual framework underpinned by case studies drawn from Asia, North America, Australasia and Europe and advocates the creation of mixed-use spaces and stakeholder collaboration to develop tourism at industrial heritage sites. These theoretical and practical perspectives will be of use to researchers and students of heritage tourism, urban and regional planning and tourism marketing.

"This report provides a description and analysis of how, why, when and where industrial heritage based tourism and rural tourism have developed in Europe. It discusses current issues in those subjects and suggests ways in which both activities could be expanded, made more viable and sustainable, and so deliver greater economic, environmental and socio-cultural benefits for the local communities involved and for Europe as a whole."---Editor.

Because few comparative data existed on European cultural tourism, when the European commission designated cultural tourism as a key area of tourism development in Europe, the European association for tourism and leisure education undertook a transnational study of European cultural tourism. The first five chapters address general themes (the scope and significance, the social context, the economic context and the political context of cultural tourism). The are followed by eleven chapters on individual countries from the European Union. Re-issued in 2005 in electronic format by ATLAS, the Association for Tourism and Leisure Education.

The single market and trade policy are Europe's major economic achievements and its best assets in times of increasing globalisation. European integration, as well as any other regional integration, is impossible without these two policies, which are a good example of how to implement a positive form of globalisation. They represent an engine for growth and building a more competitive EU economy. The single market and trade policy, by allowing people, goods, services and capital to move more freely through both Member States and the world, open up new opportunities for citizens, workers, businesses and consumers, creating the jobs and growth Europe so urgently needs. This collection of essays addresses the various facets of these two pillars of European integration. A more efficient single market creates the conditions for a more open trade policy, and vice-versa. Growth has been lacking in Europe in recent years, and enhancing these two assets is the most fruitful way to find it again.

With an expected growth rate of around 6 per cent rural tourism is developing faster than the overall growth rate for international tourism arrivals. Due to its special importance for the European region, three seminars were held in Belgrade (Serbia), Kielce (Poland) and Yaremcha (Ukraine) to focus on three major issues: to contribute to a better understanding of rural tourism and to offer additional tools for planning and execution of initiatives; to enhance the importance of rural tourism in the agendas of governments and international organisations; to generate political and financial support for the development of rural tourism. (WTO)

The European Journal of Tourism Research is an open-access academic journal in the field of tourism, published by Varna University of Management, Bulgaria. Its aim is to provide a platform for discussion of theoretical and empirical problems in tourism. Publications from all fields, connected with tourism such as tourism management, tourism marketing, tourism sociology, psychology in tourism, tourism geography, political sciences in tourism, mathematics, tourism statistics, tourism anthropology, culture and tourism, information technologies in tourism and others are invited. Empirical studies need to have either a European context or clearly stated implications for the European tourism industry. The journal is open to all researchers. Young researchers and authors from Central and Eastern Europe are encouraged to submit their contributions. The European Journal of Tourism Research is published in three Volumes per year. Regular Articles should normally be between 4 000 and 20 000 words. Major research articles of between 10 000 and 20 000 are highly welcome. Longer or shorter papers will also be considered. The journal publishes also Research Notes of 1 500-2 000 words. Submitted papers must combine theoretical concepts with practical applications or empirical testing. The European Journal of Tourism Research includes also the following sections: Book Reviews, announcements for Conferences and Seminars, abstracts of successfully defended Doctoral Dissertations in Tourism, case studies of Tourism Best Practices. Submissions should be addressed to the Editorial office of the European Journal of Tourism Research: Stanislav Ivanov Editor-in-chief Varna University of Management 13A Oborishte str., 9000 Varna, Bulgaria E-mail: stanislav.ivanov@vumk.eu For Submission guidelines visit: http://ejtr.vumk.eu There are no charges for publication. The full text of the European Journal of Tourism Research is also available in the following databases: · EBSCO Hospitality and Tourism Complete · CABI Leisure, Recreation and Tourism · ProQuest Research Library The journal is indexed in Scopus and Clarivate Analytics' Emerging Sources Citation Index.

~~Industrial Heritage Tourism in Europe~~

This book examines the complex interplay between industrial heritage and tourism. It serves to stimulate meaningful dialogue about the socioeconomic values of industrial sites and the use of tourism for the growth of the creative economy, and to better understand how the collective social memory and local identity connected to these sites have been shaped by different social groups over time. The volume presents a conceptual framework underpinned by case studies drawn from Asia, North America, Australasia and Europe and advocates the creation of mixed-use spaces and stakeholder collaboration to develop tourism at industrial heritage sites. These theoretical and practical perspectives will be of use to researchers and students of heritage tourism, urban and regional planning and tourism marketing.

"This report provides a description and analysis of how, why, when and where industrial heritage based tourism and rural tourism have developed in Europe. It discusses current issues in those subjects and suggests ways in which both activities could be expanded, made more viable and sustainable, and so deliver greater economic, environmental and socio-cultural benefits for the local communities involved and for Europe as a whole."---Editor.

Because few comparative data existed on European cultural tourism, when the European commission designated cultural tourism as a key area of tourism development in Europe, the European association for tourism and leisure education undertook a transnational study of European cultural tourism. The first five chapters address general themes (the scope and significance, the social context, the economic context and the political context of cultural tourism). The are followed by eleven chapters on individual countries from the European Union. Re-issued in 2005 in electronic format by ATLAS, the Association for Tourism and Leisure Education.

The single market and trade policy are Europe's major economic achievements and its best assets in times of increasing globalisation. European integration, as well as any other regional integration, is impossible without these two policies, which are a good example of how to implement a positive form of globalisation. They represent an engine for growth and building a more competitive EU economy. The single market and trade policy, by allowing people, goods, services and capital to move more freely through both Member States and the world, open up new opportunities for citizens, workers, businesses and consumers, creating the jobs and growth Europe so urgently needs. This collection of essays addresses the various facets of these two pillars of European integration. A more efficient single market creates the conditions for a more open trade policy, and vice-versa. Growth has been lacking in Europe in recent years, and enhancing these two assets is the most fruitful way to find it again.