Help your teen find healthy ways to relieve anger. Exercise is especially effective: running, biking, climbing or team sports. Even simply hitting a punch bag or a pillow can help relieve tension and anger. Dancing or playing along to loud, angry music can also provide relief. Some teens also use art or writing to creatively express their anger.

July 14 . It's so tricky to do the right thing when a child is troubled in some way. Unlike other parents who manage to assert wise authority, you face too many consequences, so you give in and accommodate, or you tie yourself in a knot to avoid serious consequences (anger, anxiety, suicide threat). Truth is, giving up your wisdom and power is as bad for a troubled child as it is for any other child.
