Rethinking the European Union (Rethinking World Politics)—

Rethinking the European Union draws together contributors from across Europe to reflect upon methods of conceptualising the European Union within both changing global and European contexts. The book takes the themes of institutions, interests and identities as its organising framework within which each contributor offers a distinctive commentary on the EU.

The refugee situation in the European Union in recent years, widely perceived as a refugee “crisis”, has been marked by a series of migrant boat tragedies in the Mediterranean Sea. Such tragedies notwithstanding, the rhetoric of “crisis” is often used to suggest an overwhelming influx of asylum seekers and thus emphasises the challenges faced by receiving countries (Chetail, 2016).

Rethinking the European Union’s post-Brexit budget priorities: There will be a €94 billion Brexit-related hole in the EU budget for 2021-27 if business continues as before and the United Kingdom does not contribute. The authors show that freezing agriculture and cohesion spending in real terms would fill the hole, but new priorities would then need to be funded by an increase in the percent of GNI contribution.
